

To Whom It May Concern:

Dan Wiley and I have a personal and professional history of more than twenty years. I've known him as a successful radio salesman, event promoter, public relations consultant and dear friend. He was even my teacher for an inspirational stand-up comedy class!

When I left a thirty-year personality radio career two years ago to write and self-publish a book, Dan gave me excellent advice and coaching so that I was able to achieve this accomplishment and also become signed by a literary agent and national publisher.

Dan Wiley not only knows how to reinvent himself and others, I bet he could reinvent the world. He put on the musical production of Urinetown in a major city's water treatment plant, sold thousands of tickets to the show which attracted beaucoup press. Denver is still talking about it. He thinks big . . . and he's always thinking!

With Dan, nothing is impossible, all things are possible and the impossible is even probable. Out of the box? His thinking is out of the footlocker.

Hire him. Stand back. And, watch the magic begin.

Sincerely,

Jo Myers
